ANNOUNCEMENTS

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

John Barrymore, Prominent Star, in Genuinely Funny Screen Portrayal of Famous Farce, "Are You a Ma-

John Barrymore could not be more ideally cast than in the stellar role of the film production of the sensationally successful farce, Are You a Mason?" by Leo Ditrichstein, produced by the Famous Players Film company in five parts and the current Paramount release at the Auditorium today. Two scape-graces, father-in-law and son-in-law, have both hit upon the son-in-law, have both in upon the device of pretending to be Free Masons so as to be able to plead lodge meetings as an excuse for spending their evenings away from home. There is genuine fun in the fundamental relationship of these two mock Masons, each of whom fears detection by the other and the domestic and comic other, and the domestic and comic complications caused by their indis-criminate and inartistic lying provide a fund of humor rarely evidenced in stage or screen comedies. John Barrymore, as the younger bo-John Barrymore, as the younger bogus Mason, makes the most of the many humorous incidents in his own wonderful style of comic portrayal and with a full appreciation of the farcical possibilities of the plot. Others in the splendid cast include Ida Waterman, Charles Dickson and Helen Freeman.

The construction of the film version of this celebrated stage success admits of a number of comic interpolations of episode and character imposmits of a number of comic interpola-tions of episode and character impos-sible in the presentation of the orig-inal play because of the limitations of the oral drama. These additional scenes and personages enhance the comic value of the offering and provide Mr. Barrymore with more material for the side-splitting depiction of the young Mason than was contained in the original farce.

This illarity-compelling feature will be at the Auditorium today and to-other photoplays will be shown on today's bill and tomorrow and Thursday will be Daniel Frohman's The Commanding Officer, with Alice Lovey in the leading role. The eleventh episode of The Broken Coin and Parsoner Coin and Pars amount travel pictures will also be

DAVIS THEATRE.

"The Law of the Land," with Adelaide French.

Coming direct from its season's run at the 48th Street theatre, New York city, is The Law of the Land, with Miss Adelaide French in the stellar role. It will be seen at the Davis theatre Friday evening, Sept. 17th. Mr. Broadhurst's new play is prom-ised as a drama of action with comedy scenes which give ample excuse for the statement that the play is one of tears that end in a laugh and laughs that end in tears. Miss Ade-laide French, who is well known here, is being starred in the play. She has a position of great prominence in the theatre. But no play since her Madame X, it is said, has brought her more distinction among the great players of emotional roles than The Law of the Land. Associated with Miss French are Coates Gwynne, Jean De Goussac, and other well known players.

Coates Gwynne, who is said to be one of the most promising of the younger players of our American stage, has been leading man with May Robon for the past three season. Without going into detail of the story of The Law of the Land, for the theatreges will best enjoy the play without knowing the denouement, it may be said that it is vital and human. In fact, it is promised that Mr. Progdfact, it is promised that Mr. Broad-hurst has taken the primitive emo-tions of the heart—love, jealousy, hatred, revenge—and with them worked out a new problem in the human equation that keeps one guessing to the very end what the answer will be Seats on sale Wednesday at 10 a. m. Prices 25c to $1.50. Mail orders with remittance filled in the order of receipt. Subscription list discontinued.

POETRY

DOWN ON THE PARM

When a boy I used to dwell.
In the home I loved so well.
Far away among the clover and the bees;
Where the morning-glory vine
Round the cabin porch did twine.
And the robin redbreast sang among the trees.
There were brothers young and gay.
And a father old and gray.
With a mother dear to shield us from all harm;
There I spent life's happy hours,
Running wild among the flowers,
In my boyhood's happy home down on the farm.

Many weary years have past. Since I saw the old home last. and memory comes o'er me like bince I saw the old home last.
And memory comes o'er me like a charm;
Every dear, familiar place,
Every kind and loving face,
In my boyhood's happy home, down on the farm.

The old home I loved so dear, stranger comes to meet me at the door;

Round the place there's many a change,
And the faces all seem strange.
Not a loved one there to greet me as of yore.
Now my mother dear is laid 'Neath the eim-tree's quiet shade,
And the golden summer sun shines bright and warm;
In the old familiar place I can see a stranger's face.
In my father's old armchair, down on the farm.

They toll not, neither do they spin;
And yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory
